The student run food drive is an example of the schools commitment to community and charity involvement. Saint Michael School strives to promote a sense of giving. The school encourages students to identify groups in need, develop a model for running a program, promote their cause within the school community and facilitate a campaign to help their cause.

“Learning to help those less fortunate is lesson we try to teach all students at Saint Michael School,” said Susan Gosselin, Saint Michael School Principal. “The pride of selfless giving is something our students take with them through life. It shows them that each one of us can make a difference in our community.”
